Insight OneCall for Microsoft

Flexible and cost-effective access to the best experts for your Microsoft platforms

Business challenge

Your business relies on a host of technologies to be competitive in today's marketplace but finding the right skills and resources to support your IT environment is a constant challenge. Keeping your staff trained across the breadth of your evolving technologies is increasingly difficult, and support providers can lack the flexibility to right-size to your organisational requirements. With few options for comprehensive services, your organisation can be left with known gaps in critical system support.

Our solution

Insight OneCall for Microsoft can fill the gap, providing flexible, highly skilled support resources when you need them. Our certified engineers, mature support services, and strategic relationship with Microsoft provide the support you need in one comprehensive, cost-effective solution. Services include:

- 24x7x365 on-demand access to world class engineering resources
- Escalation into Microsoft support with clearly defined processes
- Reactive incident management and resolution
- Coverage for all cloud and on-premises platforms which are under current Microsoft support
- Australian based Service Delivery Manager and Client Success Manager
- Access support from Insight's ServiceNow portal, phone, or email
- Service delivery monthly reporting

How does Insight OneCall for Microsoft compare with Microsoft Unified Enterprise Support?

Insight strongly recommends Microsoft Unified Enterprise Support for organisations that highly value comprehensive first party support services. Insight OneCall for Microsoft is an alternative which covers only a subset of these services, utilising clear escalation processes to leverage the expertise across both Insight and Microsoft.
